Samui Projects

- BANGKOK

- SAMUI

Warnes Associates provides professional engineering design for civil and structural disciplines, and has been involved in numerous projects of significance on the Southern Thailand resort island of Koh Samui.

Warnes Associates initial work in Koh Samui centered upon the Samujana Villa project. Initial villa's are complete and have been well received in the market – setting a new benchmark that other projects now aspire to.

Samui's terrain and isolation as an island create unique challenges in civil and structural engineering.

Project work undertaken has included individual residences, residential estates including associated infrastructure, hospitality – hotel and resort work, commercial, and minor marine works.

Warnes Associates established an office in Koh Samui in early 2004 to provide support to projects in which civil and structural engineering design has been undertaken, to ensure the successful implementation of construction phase works and to contribute fully to the success of our clients' projects.
